

Tsuyoshi Hasegawa (left), Professor of Modern Russian and Soviet History at the University of California-Santa Barbara, stands with James Bartholomew, Professor of Modern Japanese History at Ohio State, on Feb. 1, 2006, at the Mershon Center. Bartholomew invited Hasegawa to the center to speak on “Stalin’s Role in Ending World War II with Japan, 1945” and “Japan’s Role in Ending World War II, 1945.”